About our Speaker

Teaching in colleges and universities as well as consulting health care facilities for years, Jim Collins, Ph.D. has always believed in education and how it improves people's lives. He has provided continuing education and training for almost two decades to a wide variety of health care professionals and organizations. His style of delivery is motivational, entertaining, educational and exciting. Jim has always been passionate about what he does, and he is proud to take this energy and enthusiasm from his live seminars and provide them online in this engaging TV talk-show format.

What could be better than 6 hours of Ethics with Dr. Jim Collins? Join him as he presents very controversial information concerning mental health and psychiatric medications such as misdiagnosing and over-diagnosing certain disorders, over-prescribing psychiatric medications, ethical dilemmas treating children and the elderly, how the new DSM 5 has changed everything, and so much more.
